

CYBER SECURITY TRAINING BUILT FOR YOUR ORGANISATION

MEET YOUR BUSINESS NEEDS. PROTECT FROM DAMAGING CYBER-ATTACKS. BUILD A CULTURE OF SECURITY.

In addition to our popular public training courses, many of our clients need something more tailored. Our team of consultants work with you to build and deliver exactly what you need.

WHAT OUR CLIENTS SAY...

'We're seeing more and more cybercrime in the UK, and it's important that we provide our people with the relevant training. CyberScale approached this project collaboratively, and really took the time to understand us and the housing sector. We found their employees knowledgeable, and the interactive sessions were exactly what we were looking for.' - Nadine Tapp, Head of Flagship's Academy

TARGETED & IMPACTFUL

Working with a housing sector client who needed training targeted at specific business units the training was built to be:

- Relevant and impactful
- Modular, tailored by role and responsibilities
- Considerate of risk profiles associated with functions and roles
- Helpful to employees in understanding "why", not just "what" and "how"

Our training doesn't stop when the delivery ends. We work with you to reach those who remain vulnerable after the initial training with co-created awareness marketing activity.

INDUSTRY & REGULATORY FOCUS

As part of our vCISO service a client in the legal sector had a key aim of increasing levels of security awareness to a set minimum across all functions. Our goals in building the bespoke training approach were to:

- Deliver relevant general content to get all staff to an agreed level of awareness
- Identify & deliver content on specific subjects due to client risk profile
- Review & interpret regulatory requirements and include within training content thus helping the client meet their commitments
- Balance of delivery mix based on solicitors work patterns e.g. outside of hours when in court

Due to the specific risks identified for this client an ongoing awareness campaign and periodic refresher / update training sessions were developed, along with innovative ways of raising awareness alongside scheduled training.

HIGH VALUE, HIGH RISK

Some organisations are high value targets for cyber criminals and therefore they have higher levels of risk, often added to by the nature of their industry. Working within the aerospace sector alongside a client with a very unique and niche business unit has led to training development & delivery focused on:

- Responding to tight regulatory and security framework changes
- Breaking down the barrier of “why is this relevant for me?” amongst a time-limited function
- Supporting security policies, incident reporting procedures and insider threat programs

When regulations change businesses must respond quickly to remain compliant, working with a partner who already understands the business pays dividends in these situations.

OUR APPROACH

Targeting your teams with focused training, ensuring industry relevance, and considering the risk profile of your business require a tailored discovery of your specific needs.

Delivery to an ongoing schedule & regularly reporting back on sessions working with you to adjust to your needs
